Bellows needs your HELP

Your President has been doing the Bellows the sometime because it is the right thing to do for PSPCS. It provides information to our members on interesting photographia information and helps to keep the line of communication to our membership.

I have asked many times here in this space for someone to step up and take the camera strap of this publication but to no avail. I would like to try again. I am willing to keep doing the putting together of the Bellows but would like to have a couple of people—'Reporters' to help out with putting together an article or two and submitting them to me to publish each month. You can research the web for something of interest to yourself or the group and write it up and submit it for publication.

Think about it, this newsletter can be a lot better if everyone adds a little of their own 'flavor' to the it. If you have articles to submit please do so by the first week of the month so I can edit it into the newsletter.

Does anyone know how to teach this old photographer the ins and outs of Microsoft Publisher? I need a few pointers to make this newsletter flow better.

Any takers??? Send me your articles for the September Bellows.

Feedback from Members

I reached out to some of our past members to verify if we had their latest email address. Here are some of their responses.

"It has been some years since I was an active member but the infirmities of old age have caused me to remain at home after dark. I always enjoyed our meetings and the other night I was recalling about Bill when he ran the auctions; he was such a wonderful character and the glue that helped hold things together. Although I still have some cameras some lenses they will be buried with me. Of course I'm joking because I'm going to be cremated. That shouldn't be too bad because my nervous system is failing right now and the heat of the fire will just warm things up in preparation for the hot place. My email address is correct and I enjoy reading about the activities.

Last year I came to the swap meet just to renew old acquaintances. Will do the same this year.

Until then I will say "Aloha you all". Arnie (Arnold Anderson) --- Member emirates.

I contacted one of our founding/charter members, Wayne Hooper. He is living in Tacoma. He is the last remaining member that signed our State of Washington Articles of Incorporation in 1981. Gary Sivertsen and Bill Adams said they were planning on contacting Wayne. Sounds like we may have an update for our meeting in September.

Walter and his wife took a trip to the east coast last month. While in New York city they stopped in and did a little shopping at the NYC Flea Market where Walter met Adam & Andrea Frogash of aofvintagephoto.com. They said they may be at our June meeting on their trip west to buy for their shop. One could only hope?
